Parents and Carers Toolkit

This toolkit from Childnet provides three resources that offer practical tips and advice on different aspects of keeping your child safe online. They can help support parents and carers of any age child to start discussions about their online life, to set boundaries around online behaviour and technology use, and to find out where to get more help and support.

The Childnet Parent and Carer toolkit includes:

- Let's talk about life online
- Parents and carers resource sheet
- Family agreement (template)

Connecting safely online

Internetmatters.org

have created a hub on their website to help support parents, carers, and young people with additional learning needs to connect safely online across a range of social platforms.

'Social media allows us all to make connections and breakdown barriers. For many young people, it can be a vital part of staying connected to the world around them. This resource hopes to empower young people with the tools to navigate it smartly and safely.'

In-game chat: What parents and carers need to know

Thinkuknow have collaborated with The Association for UK Interactive Entertainment (Ukie) to give advice about online games and chat.

'While playing games online is often great fun, it's important you understand why your children will chat online, what risks there are and what measures you can take to protect them while they're playing their favorite games.'

The new guide and helps parents and carers to understand:

- Why players talk to each other online
- How in-game chat takes place
- The risks of in-game chat and how it might be abused by others
- How in-game chat can be made safer
- How you as a parent/carers can help make the chat a safer experience

O₂ and NSPCC helpline and resources

Most of the time children enjoy exploring the internet, playing online games and having contact with friends in a safe and supported environment at home. With children's increased access to the online world, however, can come increased risk and vulnerability to exploitation.

The O2 and NSPCC helpline can help parents and carers with any questions or concerns you may have about keeping your child safe online, they can provide advice and help to troubleshoot any problems your family may be facing.

Calls to the O2 advice line Monday – Friday 9:00am – 6:00pm are free of charge 0808 800 5002 or visit their website for further information, resources and activities.
